the pensions act 2011 amends the timetable for increasing the state pension age to 66 under the pensions act pa 2007 the increase to 66 was due to take effect between 2024 and 2026 this act will bring forward the increase so that state pension age for both men and women will begin rising from 65 in december 2018 to reach

66 by October 2020 as a result of bringing forward the increase to 66 the timetable contained in the PA 1995 for equalising women's state pension age with men's at 65 by April 2020 will be accelerated so that women's state pension age reaches 65 by November 2018 the act introduces amendments to primary legislation to amend the regulatory framework for the duty on employers to automatically enrol eligible workers into a qualifying pension scheme and to contribute to the scheme these measures implement recommendations from the Making Automatic Enrolment Work Review CM 7954 ISBN 9780101795425 the act amends existing legislation that provides for revaluation or indexation of occupational pensions and payments by the Pension Protection Fund this act also contains a number of measures to correct particular references in the existing body of pensions related legislation and other small and technical measures to both state and private pension legislation the act is in six parts the amendments made by the act generally extend to England and Wales and to Scotland this act introduces a low cost personal account it aims to automatically enrol eligible workers into pension schemes introduce a minimum employer contribution and confer on the personal accounts delivery authority executive as opposed to advisory powers all employers will be required to contribute to their workers pensions a minimum of 3 per cent on a band of earnings for defined contribution schemes as recommended by the Pensions Commission the Pensions Act 1995 is a complex and unwieldy piece of legislation which has significant implications not only for pensions lawyers but for trustees employers insurance companies and anyone involved in the management and running of pension schemes it is designed to strengthen and secure the legislative framework relating to occupational pension schemes to provide for equality of treatment between men and women members the equalization of pensionable ages under the state pension scheme and also to give peace of mind to scheme members this guide is a reference to the act's provisions and includes an appendix of all the regulation making powers under the act it examines the significant aspects of the act in a practical way including the role of the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority nature and scope of scheme trustees duties under the act minimum funding requirements dispute resolution and the Pensions Ombudsman equal treatment provisions and changes in benefit level state pensions are the largest item in the UK social security budget costing 96.7 billion in 2017/18 in the same year 45.6 million people were members of UK occupational pension schemes out of a total population of 66.4 million and the total amount saved into workplace schemes in 2018 was 90.4 billion a consequence of the pensions sector's large size has been that pensions law and social security law have become increasingly specialised areas of practice yet despite their social and economic importance and the fascinating legal issues they generate pensions have not been the subject of sustained academic attention this book starts to fill this gap by initiating a dialogue between practitioners and scholars working on pensions law and policy groups who have much to learn from one another this title is included in bloomsbury professional s pensions law online service this guide to the pensions act 1995 outlines the provisions of this major piece of legislation which affects all uk pension schemes it analyzes how it will work in practice and identifies problem areas including member nominated trustees the minimum funding requirement mfr a new contracting out test applicable from 1997 the occupational pensions regulatory authority opra a new compensation fund statutory equal treatment provisions whistle blowing and pensions on divorce
