lost civilizations provides a fascinating and comprehensive overview of the peoples and defining civilizations of all the continents on earth it sheds light on the power and influence of the persians greeks and romans on the ancient kingdoms and dynasties in china and india and on the achievements of the advanced civilizations of the inca maya and aztecs over 400 illustrations numerous maps and informative texts provide captivating portraits of early societies that have defined the course of human history in civilizations felipe fernández armesto once again proves himself a brilliantly original historian capable of large minded and comprehensive works here he redefines the subject that has fascinated historians from thucydides to gibbon to spengler to fernand braudel the nature of civilization to fernández armesto a civilization is civilized in direct proportion to its distance its difference from the unmodified natural environment by its taming and warping of climate geography and ecology the same impersonal forces that put an ocean between africa and india a river delta in mesopotamia or a 2 000 mile long mountain range in south america have created the mold from which humanity has fashioned its own wildly differing cultures in a grand tradition that is certain to evoke comparisons to the great historical taxonomies each chapter of civilizations connects the world of the ecologist and geographer to a panorama of cultural history in civilizations the medieval poem sir gawain and the green knight is not merely a christian allegory but a testament to the thousand year long deforestation of the trees that once covered 90 percent of the european mainland the indian ocean has served as the world s greatest trading highway for millennia not merely because of cultural imperatives but because the regular monsoon winds blow one way in the summer and the other in the winter in the words of the author unlike previous attempts to write the comparative history of civilizations it is arranged environment by environment rather than period by period or society by society thus seventeen distinct habitats serve as jumping off points for a series of brilliant set piece comparisons thus tundra civilizations from ice age europe are linked with the inuit of the pacific northwest and the mississippi mound builders and the deforesters of eleventh century europe are both understood as civilizations built on woodlands here of course are the familiar riverine civilizations of mesopotamia and china of the indus and the Nile but also highland civilizations from the inca to new guinea island cultures from minoan crete to polynesia to renaissance venice maritime civilizations of the indian ocean and south china sea even the bushmen of southern africa are seen through a lens provided by the desert civilizations of chaco canyon more here are fascinating stories brilliantly told of the voyages of chinese admiral chen ho and portuguese commodore vasco da gama of the great khan and the great zimbabwe here are hesiod s tract on maritime trade in the early aegean and the most up to date genetics of seed crops erudite wide ranging a work of dazzling scholarship written with extraordinary flair civilizations is a remarkable achievement a tour de force by a brilliant scholar this book offers compelling answers to the question of how global governance can and ought to effectively address serious global problems such as financial instability military conflicts severe acts of distributive injustice and increasing concerns of ecological disasters through argumentation research traditional scholarship on how ancient civilizations emerged is outmoded and new insights call for revision according to the well established paradigm mesopotamia is considered the cradle of civilization following the cliché of ex oriente lux light from the east all major achievements of humankind spread from the middle east modern archaeology cultural science and historical linguistics indicate civilizations did not originate from a single prototype several models produced divergent patterns of advanced culture developing both hierarchical and egalitarian societies this study outlines a panorama of ancient civilizations including the still little known danube civilization now identified as the oldest advanced culture in europe in a comparative view a new paradigm of research and a new cultural chronology of civilizations in the old and new worlds emerges with climate change shown to be a continual influence on human lifeways

as the world faces a multitude of complexly interwoven challenges new values and new worldviews are emerging to change the ways in which human beings relate to each other to our planet and to all life on earth in today s globalized world humanity is becoming inescapably aware that coexistence cooperation and respect for diversity are fundamental values by which all of us must live these essential human values which apply in all individual and societal relationships are likewise intrinsic to a culture of peace a way of living that will allow a harmonious multifaceted global civilization to blossom central to this volume is a belief that in an interdependent world collective decision making for the collective good is the most effective way to move forward in order to respect the balance among cultures and nations decisions that have a global impact must be taken multilaterally no culture can achieve and maintain its international objectives by acting unilaterally nor can any nation or cultural group claim to represent the whole of humanity shaping the culture of peace in a multilateral world compiles prominent visionary articles from united nations institutions and regional and other intergovernmental organizations and highlights the contributions being made to the creation of a culture of peace it aims to strengthen multilateral cooperation among intergovernmental organizations worldwide and to facilitate the formation of a global network of multilateral mechanisms which will provide collective and holistic responses to the peace and security challenges of the 21st century shaping the culture of peace in a multilateral world is in itself a true example of multilateralism and a publication treasure for people who are active or interested in international diplomacy and international affairs this book explores how a civilization specifically western civilization accommodates multiple cultures their interactions and transformations historical controversies temporary suppressions and rebirths it offers a framework for understanding the history of the west and perspectives for invigorating the contemporary global debate on multiculturalism whereby it challenges the popular view that history is no more than a multiplicity of discontinuous histories demonstrating that there are even in view of the rejection of a particular culture ways of sustaining continuity two fundamental concepts of the philosophy of culture initiation and preservation are shown to underscore the cultural and social essentials of human society this two tier analysis is first concerned with cultural texts mythical epic tragic poetical religious and philosophical constitutive of a certain cultural profile it then reveals the dynamics of being looking into the ways entities emerge endure and disappear the exploration of the pauline notion of sin for example shows that paul s sense of spatiotemporality is embedded in his polycentric culture with the societies of jews greeks and christians accommodated within this complex the key focus is on acts and their transformation into behavioral modes re centering plato s thought on how an entity takes part in its idea and how its temporal being can be described in terms of biological and cultural existence the same duality of biology and culture defines the opposition between need and the interrelated concepts of goodness and desire the equivalent of self sustaining existence in the worldly domain of time and change is actively sustained endurance ideal cultural human virtues are ranked higher than biological life homeric heroes for example establish a society founded on the value of glory thereby embedding the cultural mindset of the generations to come following their example in idealism endurance is secured in mythical historical religious philosophical and legal discourses as paradigms for human action they incarnate essential human situations implicitly involving the hearer reader or beholder into making choices and acting narrating a past dilemma the text entangles the living ones into the world of its truths and values and thus sustains cultural continuity
